House with huge potential and around 150 sqm to restore in the old town of Vejer offerin incredible views. At the moment it is divided in two houses but they can be easily joined together. One of the properties, that is currently being renovated, has a kitchen, living room, bedroom and bathroom. The second part has a kitchen, living room, bathroom and bedroom. On the second floor there is a spacious room with access to the first of the terraces. This leads to another small exit room and the second terrace. Both have incredible views to the town, country and the sea. Casa Palmera would make a wonderful family home once completed and in a fantastic location.
